Art Unit: 3744

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2, 6, 10, 13, 17 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kim. Kim discloses an air conditioner having compressor 1, accumulator 5, outdoor heat exchanger 2, indoor heat exchanger 4, expansion means 3 and a sheath heater 15 in the accumulator having coil and two electrodes for heating the refrigerant in the room heating mode responsive to exterior temperature for operating the capacity of the compressor and the output of the heater at maximum (S501-S505 of Figure 10(C)).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-4, 11-12 and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Official Notice. Official Notice is taken that the use of waterproof electrodes and copper pipe for electrical heating means were well known in the art. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the system of Kim such that it included the use of same.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Nishihara et al. Nishihara teaches the use of a plurality of indoor units in order to provide air conditioning to a plurality of locations. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the system of Kim such that it included the use of a plurality of indoor units in order to provide air conditioning to a plurality of locations in view of the teachings of Nishihara.

Claims 7-9 and 14-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
